Columbia continues to grow. New buildings may be seen in every corner of town. Now's a good time to boost the best community in the commonwealth.

DULEY'S MILL

The beauties near at home usually lack appreciation. It is the distant places of the earth that call for rhapsodies. Enchantment is lent by leagues of distance. Yet one may find close at hand attractiveness which equals the attractiveness of the far away or surpasses it.

All this is written in preface to the statement that few counties in Missouri are so richly blessed with charming natural scenery as in the county of Boone. In almost any direction from Columbia, north, east, west, south, may be found in a few miles picturesque places and beautiful views of hills, prairies, upland, rugged bluffs, winding streams and the forest primeval. It is unnecessary to go to the Ozarks for scenic beauty in Missouri.

Off the main highway, between Columbia and Jefferson City, may be found Duley's Mill, scarce two hours from either town, a place of rare charm. Cedar creek here makes a sharp turn around rugged limestone cliffs more than one hundred feet high. At the foot of the cliffs the creek encloses in its embrace cornfield and meadow land, a fair picture for which the brownish white of the limestone heights makes a fitting frame. At the turn of the creek is an old historic mill, a clubhouse, a bridge with entrancing views, a swimming hole, a fishing-place, great, overhanging trees, and the air of real romance.

It is not a travel-ticket to the uttermost parts of the earth that most folks need to find out the beautiful in God's out-of-doors, but rather instead the seeing eye.

Missouri is well represented in the September Ladies Home Journal. Arthur F. Killick, "Fatty Lewis," a happy helper of humanity, has a worthwhile article on his Sunshine Bank, an invention more serviceable to folks than the First National of Anywhere. And it is illustrated with Fatty's phiz, too. Then Lee Shippey, president of the Missouri Writers Guild, poet-laureate to Missouri, has some stanzas on "That First Day Off to School," which are full of rare tenderness. We are beginning to think the Ladies Home Journal knows literature after all.

SAVE THE BIRDS

There is probably no thing of greater help to the American farmer than the protection given his crop by the birds. Were it not for the insectivorous birds, our forests and our fields would be quickly devastated by the Hessian fly, boll weevil and other pests. Every year thousands and thousands of crop-destroying insects are destroyed by birds and thus thousands of dollars are saved to the farmers.

It is not only our duty, but it is common sense to give protection to things that help us. To continue the benefit done by birds it is necessary to protect them. Every year thousands of birds are needlessly killed—birds that are aids to the farmer.

Especially is this true of migratory birds—birds that spend part of the year in the United States and part in Canada. There can be no conservation of birds in one country if it is not supported by the other. At this time of the year a majority of the geese and ducks flying northward across the United States will spend the winter in Canada. For this reason it is necessary to have Canada and the United States co-operate in bird protection.

For this purpose a treaty has recently been signed between the Secretary of State and the British Ambassador, but the treaty has not been ratified. It is necessary that it be ratified, not only for the protection of the insectivorous birds that save us thousands of dollars every year, but also as a protection to game birds—that the game laws may be enforced and birds not shot out of season.

All that remains is for the Senate to ratify the treaty. Senator Stone is chairman of the foreign relations committee and he could do no greater service to Missouri and the United States than to hasten the ratification of this treaty and thus aid in the conservation of birds.

The state prohibition party has also adopted a plank favoring a new constitution. It says: "We favor an omniscient convention for the formation of a new constitution for Missouri."

The Prohibition party, as well as the Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties, declares for a new state constitution. That makes it almost unanimous.

Progress, according to some persons, consists in tearing down what others have builded.

The Open Column

Don't Forget the Soldiers!

Editor the Missouriian: While away on a vacation this summer I noticed that almost every paper I picked up was engaged in raising money to send "comfort packages" of tobaccos, candies, canned fruits, etc., to the soldiers on the Mexican border.

When the Columbia company first left, two papers here started out with great enthusiasm to raise funds for the wives of the soldiers, but this fell through. Now the Missouriian has been very successful in raising funds for Belgians, Armenians, flood sufferers and other causes, why not raise a fund for this purpose? I believe the Missouriian could do this like it does a lot of other things for the good of the town and community.

You can count me in on this and I would like to hear from others. Let's make it a little easier for the good sports who are down among the sand hills in the 120 degree temperature in preparing themselves to protect our country and in protecting the border, while we are up here enjoying this fine fall weather.—J. H.

MICHIGAN PRIMARY IS CLOSE

Republicans Are Split Up Over Choice for Officials.

By United Press.

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—Political parties in Michigan today named their candidate for the November election. For the Democrats, the primary balloting was merely the formal ratification of the selections of the party organization chiefs, but Republicans were waging a rough and tumble scrap for nearly every place on the ticket.

Candidates were being selected for governor, lieutenant governor, United States senator, congress, the state senate and house of representatives.

Five men sought the Republican nomination for governor. They were Frank B. Leand, banker of Detroit; Albert E. Sleeper, former state treasurer, of Bad Axe; Gerritt J. Biek, Washington Gardner, former congressman and former commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. of Albion; and Sybraut Wessellus, of Grand Rapids.

Democrats cast their ballots for Charles H. Bender of Grand Rapids for governor, following the refusal of Gov. Ferris to seek a third term. Bender's name went on the primary ballot despite his protest that he did not want the nomination and "could not think of accepting it" because of business responsibilities.

United States Senator Charles E. Townsend, of Jackson, was opposed for re-nomination on the Republican ticket, by William H. Hill, Detroit drug manufacturer, and Theodore Joslyn, of Adrian, both former progressives.

The Chicago National League club is taking practically all of the Indianapolis pitching staff. In addition to Carter, who has already reported to the Cubs, they have bought Aldridge and Dawson, who will not report until next spring. Seaton, who was sent by the Cubs to Indianapolis, is pitching great ball and helping to keep the Indians in the race.

Easterly, a former member of the Kansas City Federal League Club, has returned to the Coast after several years' absence and has signed with the Salt Lake Club.

Spokane has clinched the Northwestern League pennant.

Boxing Season Will Open on Labor Day.

Ordinarily Labor Day sees the beginning of the season for boxers in the United States. And ordinarily there are several good fights on tap for the fans. While this year is not an exception to the rule, it is true that the fights billed for next Monday have created only passing interest, despite the fact that at least three champions will be seen in action.

At Colorado Springs Freddie Welsh, the lightweight king, is to defend his title for the first time since he won it from Willie Ritchie in a twenty-round bout. He will take on Charlie White, the pride of Chicago. At Cedar Point, O., Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, will mix with George Chaney, and at Baltimore Jack Dillon, the light heavyweight champion, will go against Jim Coffey, the New York heavy.

Of all these bouts there is only one that stands out. The match between Chaney and Kilbane probably will be the feature of the day's milling. A huge advance sale has assured the success of the show from a financial standpoint.

Kilbane, by virtue of his standing as a champion, naturally has been made the favorite in the betting, but plenty of Chaney money has appeared and the Baltimore challenger will have his share of backers. Kilbane is a clever boxer and a puncher of great power. His shiftness and knowledge of the game is expected to carry him through to victory.

On the other hand, Chaney's supporters "point with pride" to the fact that out of seventy-one opponents he has laid forty away by the knockout route. Chaney claims one of these knockouts to have been scored over Kid Williams, the bantamweight champion. Chaney has lost two fights and both of these were the sleep route. Chaney fights with the right foot and hand forward. He is of the aggressive, rushing type and

The Welsh-White go at Colorado Springs probably will prove unsatisfactory, if past records are any criticism. There is no reason to suspect that a boxer as slow as White can catch the elusive, clever Welsh in twenty rounds and easier than he could in ten. White has had two opportunities to knock Welsh's crown off in ten round mills and while he has showed well on each occasion he did nothing extraordinary. Welsh recent showing against Benny Leonard in New York proves that the Englishman is far from through and that he can turn in a great bout when he wants to.

Baltimore's attraction should prove a real bout, but Coffey's standing doesn't entitle him to a great amount of consideration when pitted against a man of Dillon's calibre.

Other Labor Day bouts include Cal Delaney vs. Lee Finnerman at Erie, Pa.; Frank Moran vs. Carl Morris at Tulsa, Okla.; Ad Wolgast vs. Lee Morrissey, Idaho Falls, Ida.; Joe Rivers vs. Johnny Griffiths, Canto, O.

Rain prevented all but three of the matches scheduled for the first day's play in the national tennis tournament at Forest Hills. Former champion McLoughlin and C. J. Griffin won their matches in straight sets, while Ward Dawson, McLoughlin's doubles partner, was eliminated in straight sets by E. H. Whitney of Boston.

Lavan, the Brown's shortstop is the only regular in the American league batting below .200, while Corhan, the Cards' shortfield man, is one of the three in the National League below that mark. Both players' fielding keeps them in the game. Lavan has burnt up things on the Browns' trip, according to Eastern sport writers, who have given him more space than any other St. Louis player with the possible exception of George Sisler.

Milan Is Slated For The Discard.

Milan, a star outfielder and one of the fastest men on the paths in the American League, will probably be one of the first men to go when Griffith starts cleaning house this winter. The Washington manager is dissatisfied with the recent showing of the Senators and blames much of the slump to the failure of Milan to hit.

Washington should have no trouble in disposing of the speedy center fielder, for there are none too many of his ability in either league.

Inter-sectional football games, almost unheard of a few years ago, are becoming quite common. This fall the University of Indiana eleven will meet both the University of Florida and Tufts, a New England school.

Henry Decker, 19 years of age, won the Kansas City golf championship Saturday, defeating R. W. Hodge, the Missouri champion in the final match, 4 up and 2 to play.

Howard Drew, Sprinter, A Victim of Paralysis.

Howard Drew, the colored sprinter and one of the greatest of all time, is down and out with paralysis. Last year, when a strained tendon laid him out, he came back nearly as good as ever, but this time he is in all probability out of track competition for good.

Drew held the world's record in both the hundred and two-hundred yard dashes, making 9 3-5 and 21 1-5 in the two events. He twice made 9 3-5 seconds in the century dash and seventeen times made 9 4-5, a consistency never equaled by either Duffy or Kelly, the other men who made 9 3-5.

It was expected that the colored sprinter would appear in the national championships at Newark on Sept. 9, but now the race will be between Loomis, Meyer, Mahl or some other man.

A Regular Berth For Hogg in 1917?

In all probability Bobby Hogg will have a regular garden berth with the 1917 Mules.—Hannibal Morning Journal. Hogg, who has been one of the favorites on the Tigers for the past three seasons, joined the Hannibal team in the Three-Eye League not long after school closed in June. After playing right field for a month or so he was dropped mainly because of his size—or lack of it. Bobby always has lot of pep and his speed on the bases and in the field offsets his lack of weight.

The Cincinnati Reds have bought Mike Regan and Roy Sanders, the two pitchers that have kept Kansas City in the American Association race this season. They will report to Mathewson's team on September eighth. Regan won seven straight games during the Blues' advance to first place, but due to overwork, has not pitched as good ball recently.
